

ESSENTIALS OF QUALITATIVE RESEARCH COURSE SERIES MASTER'S CURRICULUM

Health sciences master's students usually take one qualitative methodology course.

However, three advanced courses (see column 2) on the theoretical foundations of method are available to master's students who

1. Are searching for solid preparation that may lead to a PhD program; or
2. Have extensive prior experience in qualitative health research.

Core Courses

CHL 5221

Community Health Appraisal
Methods
(CHAM 2): Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods

EXS 5510

Qualitative Inquiry and Physical
Cultural Studies

PHM 1137

Introduction to Qualitative Research
Methods in the Health Sciences

Advanced Courses

JRP 1000

Theory and Method of Qualitative Health Research

SWK 4512

Research Knowledge for Social Justice